Purpose

The purpose of this report is to facilitate the establishment of a Compliance Audit Committee and to delegate to such Committee Council's powers and functions respecting compliance audit applications which may be made in relation to the 2010 general municipal election.

Background - Analysis and Options

Under the provisions of the Municipal Elections Act, 1996 (the Act), an eligible elector who believes on reasonable grounds that a candidate has contravened a provision of the Act relating to election campaign finances, may apply for a compliance audit of the candidate's election campaign finances. The application must be made to the City Clerk in writing, include the reasons for the application and be made within 90 days after the filing date for the financial statements.

The Act was amended in November 2002 to provides that a municipal council can deal with compliance audit applications itself or establish a compliance audit committee with the sole responsibility of deciding whether compliance audit applications ought to be granted or rejected, or to exercise the following bundle of powers and functions:

- (a) consider a compliance audit application received from an elector and decide whether it should be granted or rejected;
- (b) if the application is granted, appoint an auditor;
- (c) receive the auditor's report;
- (d) consider the auditor's report and decide whether legal proceedings should be commenced; and
- (e) recover the costs of conducting the audit from the applicant if there were no apparent contraventions and if there appears to be no reasonable grounds for having made the application.

This committee cannot include Council Members or City staff and must be established prior to voting day (November 8, 2010).

Compliance Audit Committee Composition

Compliance audit committee members must possess an in-depth knowledge of the campaign financing rules of the Act. If not, they will not be in a position to reach an independent decision on the merits of the application and may look to City staff for guidance. This would put staff in a conflict situation, particularly if the application concerned a Member of Council.

As the committee will operate as a quasi-judicial committee, prior experience on a committee, task force or tribunal would also be an asset from a meeting management perspective.

Ideally, the committee's composition would include auditors, accountants, lawyers, and other individuals with knowledge of the campaign financing rules of the Act.

A targeted recruitment strategy is being proposed in order to solicit interest from suitable candidates. Upon approval of this report, the City Clerk will contact professional bodies governing or representing auditors, accountants, lawyers, engineers and such other professions that impose professional standards on their members, breach of which can lead to discipline, to seek interest from individuals to become candidates for appointment to the Compliance Audit Committee.

A decision on a compliance audit application must be made within 30 days of the receipt of the application. Given all the logistics that must be completed within this 30 day period, such as notifying and scheduling the committee members, providing adequate notice to the parties and the public, having the decision prepared and circulated to all committee members for review and signature, staff are recommending that Council appoint three individuals to the committee. A limited committee membership will ensure that the process can be completed in the 30 days. The format closely follows the established structure of the City of Toronto Compliance Audit Committee.

To avoid a conflict of interest, care must be taken that any auditors or accountants appointed to the compliance audit committee do not audit or prepare the financial statements of any candidate running for office on City Council. Accordingly, it is staff's recommendation that any auditor or accountant appointed to the committee would have to agree in writing to not undertake the audits or preparation of the financial statements of any candidates seeking election to City Council. Failure to adhere to this requirement would result in the individual being removed from the committee. Applicants who have participated as candidates in City of Vaughan elections, or who have held roles on the campaigns for any such candidates which involved the giving of financial advice, will not be eligible for participation on the committee.

Relationship to Vaughan Vision 2020/Strategic Plan

This report is consistent with the priorities previously set by Council, particularly with respect to the promotion of effective governance.

Conclusion

Should Council wish to delegate its compliance audit authority and responsibility under section 81 of the Act to a compliance audit committee, the membership of the committee must be established before voting day, November 8, 2010. This report is being submitted at this time with the intention that recruitment can begin and appointments be made prior to the campaign period commencing.

In order to develop a list of qualified applicants, a selection committee comprised of the City Clerk, the Commissioner of Legal and Administrative Services and City Solicitor and the Integrity Commissioner will solicit interest from persons such as auditors, accountants, lawyers, engineers and the members of other professional bodies and associations. In-depth knowledge of election financial reporting mechanisms will be a key qualification. A short list of recommended individuals will be submitted for Council's consideration through the Committee of the Whole (Closed Session).

The delegations set out in this report comply with the City's Policy on the Delegation of Powers and duties.
